

The Watershed Partnership*
and
The Friends of the Guilford Free Library present

Eating Naturally:

Good Food for Health and the Environment

a film and discussion series at the Guilford Free Library

Thursday Oct. 6 7:00 pm: Food Fight

Food Fight is an award-winning documentary that serves up the history and politics of how America eats in a breezy, amusing way. Organic Horizon says “Food Fight is exactly what a documentary should be — fun to watch and educational.”

Thursday Oct. 27 7:00 pm: What's Organic about Organic?

Through the stories of farmers from Harlem to the Rockies, from upstate New York to Florida, What's Organic about Organic? reveals what's at stake in creating and maintaining meaningful standards for organic production —to protect citizens, to heal the environment, and to maintain livelihoods of family farmers.

*The Watershed Partnership Inc. is a nonprofit organization founded in 2004, that works to promote safe, healthy, livable communities for present and future generations. Dr. Jerry Silbert, Executive Director, is a physician trained in pathology, laboratory medicine and environmental health.

A short discussion facilitated by Jerry Silbert will follow each film

Free and Open to all
Reserve Your Place Now — Register by phone, online or in person.
Call 203-453-8282, visit www.guilfordfreelibrary.org

Co-sponsored by the Connecticut Humanities Council